Dear Brown Alumni and Friends,

Journey with us to Portugal’s Alentejo, a less explored region graced with pastoral landscapes of cork forests, olive groves and small fielded vineyards in terracotta beauty. Descend into the heartland and find a sense of Home in the hospitable villages of the Alentejo, one of Portugal’s sparkling mountain towns, and then take in a dynamic Lisbon during a one-night stop.

Packaged with each outing, this well-curated itinerary captures the vibrant culture and relaxed pace of life in this captivating part of Portugal. While we bring together a diverse mix of destinations in Alentejo, cork-authentic dining in Evora, and gazing upon home in Dao, and larger over matching meals at a scenic winery and a beautiful estate. Plus, guided tours and opportunities to experience Portugal’s rich history.

Feel at ease knowing that your Travel Director will handle the details, leaving you free to focus on the pleasures of your destination. And experience it all with the Rodríguez of a small group while also having several free time to make your own discoveries.

Enjoy a transformative area of Portugal often overlooked by travelers today, and see the very Alentejo.

Sincerely,

Zack Langwa
Vice President for Alumni Relations

Dear Brown Alumni and Friends,

Journey with us to Portugal’s Alentejo, a less explored region groomed with pastoral landscapes of cork forests, olive groves and wheel farmsteads in timeless beauty. Desolate fields and far-flung villages can rise in orange or Via Francica, one of its sparkling minster towns, and then take a dynamic Labrador during a one-stop flight.

Packed with lifelong enrichments, this well-curated itinerary captures the vibrant culture and relaxed pace of life in this captivating part of Portugal. Multiple all-inclusive strolls at historic moments in Alentejo, cool authentic diners along your journey home in Branco, and longer overnights result in a scenic venture and a beautiful estate. Plus, guided tours and exclusive with experts bite into Portugal’s rich history.

Feel at ease knowing that your Travel Director will handle the details, leaving you free to focus on the pleasures of your destination. And experience all this with the understanding of a small group while also having single-free time to make your own discoveries. Enjoy a memorable area of Portugal often overlooked by tourists! Confirm your place today, and we'll see you in the Alentejo.

Sincerely,

Zack Langwa
